COMMON QUESTIONS

What is an audiologist?

Audiologists are licensed, doctorate-level health care professionals who evaluate, diagnose, treat and manage hearing loss and balance disorders in both adults and children.

Do I need a referral to see an audiologist?

Yes, most insurance plans require a referral for a hearing evaluation and communication and functional needs assessment.

What are common signs of hearing loss?

- > Inability to hear people clearly and fully
- > Frequent requests for repetition or clarification
- > Fatigue at the end of the day from straining to hear
- > Avoidance of social situations because of difficulty hearing in noisy environments
- > Family members mentioning the television volume is too loud

How much do hearing aids cost?

At Solvera Health, prices for:

Non-rechargeable hearing aids

Range from $1864/pair to $5608/pair

Rechargeable hearing aids

Range from $2158/pair to $6024/pair

Will hearing aids be covered by insurance?

Not all insurance plans provide a hearing aid benefit; however, our registration team at Solvera Health will verify your benefits prior to you being seen by the audiologist.
